MEET MONDAY ON GARBAGE AND TRAFFIC; TWP. WILL ACT

Two major Gettysburg problems—garbage disposal and traffic—are due for public discussion Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the court house in a meeting for the general public arranged by borough council and the burgess.

Not only Gettysburgians, but everyone in the county is invited by Burgess Wilbur Plank and Council President H. M. Oyler to attend the meeting on the problems, the effects of which radiate through the countryside.

One effect of Gettysburg's garbage disposal problem was shown Friday when the Straban Twp. board of supervisors announced they plan, October 30, to pass an ordinance prohibiting dumping in their area.

No Outside Garbage

The Straban ordinance specifically opposes the introduction of any outside garbage, rubbish, etc., into the township. Section One of the ordinance states that "It shall be unlawful for any person to haul or transport by any means whatsoever, any waste, refuse, trash, garbage, rubbish, decayed matter or organic waste over the roads, highways, alleys or lands within the township of Straban from a point outside the limits of said township for the purpose of accumulating, dumping or otherwise depositing any said matter on public or private property within the Township of Straban."

The second section of the ordinance prohibits anyone from "accumulating, dumping or depositing on public or private land, any debris from outside the township. The third section makes it unlawful to permit the bringing in and depositing of any trash from outside the township on any land in the township.

A fine of up to $300 or 30 days in jail is provided for anyone violating the ordinance. In addition they "shall be liable for the cost of abatement of said nuisance and the removal of said garbage, rubbish, etc."

Face Dec. 1 Deadline

Arthur Weaver, secretary-treasurer of the Straban board, said the board plans to meet at his home, Gettysburg R. 4, at 9 (Continued On Page 3)

TEACHER FROM BANGKOK HERE

Miss Mary Suchart, an educator from Bangkok, Thailand, spent Thursday in the Fairfield joint school system to study that system before returning to Thailand to take up her professional duties there.

Miss Suchart has completed four years of education in the U. S. graduating from Columbia University, and is scheduled to leave next month for Bangkok after visiting a number of schools in the U. S.

She was accompanied here by James Fink, chief of the agricultural education department of the state Department of Public Instruction, to visit the Fairfield school because in the opinion of the state department the Fairfield Joint School most nearly approximates in size the schools with which she will be working in Thailand.

Richard C. Lightner, county supervisor of agricultural education; George Inskip, Fairfield Jointure supervising principal, and Richard E. Straup, Fairfield High School principal, assisted in outlining details of the school to Miss Suchart. Principal Inskip said she was most interested in the home economics, science courses, industrial arts, agriculture and mathematics courses as they are taught at the school, as well as general elementary education curriculum.

Autumn Color At Peak Sunday

With foliage hitting its peak in blazing color and the forecast for fine weather, this weekend promises to be a good one for motoring to and through the Adams County countryside and forests.

In the towns, too, there is a new brilliance as the leaves of the street-side maples put on extravagant shades of red, yellow and orange. Displays of pumpkins at roadside marts add further variety to autumn's display.

While deciduous trees and shrubs indulge in their orgy of color, the stately cedars and other conifers, like stalwart conservatives, retain their deep greens lending interesting contrasts in many a rural scene.

Indeed, the time has come to take to the open road.

Chest Fund Is Up To $17,077 Today

The Gettysburg Community Chest campaign was within less than $10,000 of its $26,800 goal today of $17,077.47 on hand in cash and pledges.

Campaign Chairman William A. Lentz said that there are nearly 1,400 cards on which reports have not yet been received. The Chest has 63.7 per cent of its goal.

Friday evening the campaign headquarters in the Red Cross office on Baltimore St. were closed and reports next week should be taken or sent to the Metropolitan Edison Company building on S. Franklin St. Donations may be sent there by persons missed by solicitors, Lentz said, as he urged completion of the drive.

ELKS DANCE ORCHESTRA

The Melo Tones will provide the music for the dance at the Elks Home this evening.

PARENTS ARE WELCOME IN CLASSROOMS

Teachers would like to have parents visit the classrooms. Parents would like to but hesitate because they feel they may disrupt class activity, might "not be welcome."

The paradox of this situation was brought out as a panel of parents presented their views before the elementary teachers of Gettysburg's schools Friday afternoon in the afternoon session of an elementary workshop held in the Keefauver School.

A panel of six parents spoke on the theme, "We Look at the Elementary Schools in Gettysburg." The Rev. Robert MacAskill was the moderator.

It was when Mrs. Frank Bowersox, panel member, discussed her topic, the homeroom parent, and revealed the feeling of hesitancy that parents seem to have about visiting school while classes are in session that the teachers expressed almost unanimously their view that parents are most welcome and that they need not wait for invitations.

Visits A Benefit

The gist of the discussion was that visits by parents, even though they may upset classroom routine, are beneficial, both in acquainting children to visitations and in establishing a better relationship between pupil and teacher.

Homeroom parents can be most useful to teachers, too, it was brought out, in assisting in the conduct of field trips, supervising playground play and in helping with contact between the teacher and their parents whom the teacher may have difficulty in contacting directly. One teacher suggested that in the lower grades the parent might well prepare herself to come in on occasion and read to the class, thus giving the pupils a change of face and voice.

The question of introduction of foreign language study in the elementary grades was raised by Mrs. Clarence Bartholomew in her discussion of curriculum. Several teachers told of such courses being tried in other schools and indicated that they are interested in what progress pupils are making in those areas.

Self-Expression

Mrs. Bartholomew also suggested an increased emphasis on self-expression. She noted that in life today there is a need for the ability to express one's views, often before groups.

She also reiterated a Parent-Teacher Association suggestion that physical education be added to the elementary curriculum. (Continued On Page 3)

SCOUTS WILL GET CHARTER

St. James Lutheran Church sponsored Cubs, Scouts and Explorers Monday night will stage a charter presentation and awards ceremony at the church to which all are invited.

James Schwenk, institutional representative for Pack, Troop and Post 79, said one of the Sunday School rooms at the church will be used for display of handicraft articles made by the youths in connection with their scouting activities. The display will begin at 6:30 o'clock Monday night. The charter presentation and awards ceremony will begin at 7 o'clock.

Schwenk said any youth of scouting age, if accompanied by a parent, is especially urged to attend the session.

He also announced plans of the Scouts to collect broken or old toys for repair and repainting and distribution to needy families at Christmas.

Schwenk said adults connected with the scouting organizations have agreed to handle repairs of the broken toys while the Scouts, Explorers and Cubs will do the painting.

The toys are sought early so that full repairs can be made in time for Christmas distribution. Persons wishing to donate toys may call Schwenk, or any other adult connected with the scouting units, and arrangements will be made for the scouts to pick up the articles.

Hula-Hoop Fad Crashes Gettysburg

The "Hula-Hoop" fad has crashed Gettysburg. Youngsters by the score whirl the hoops around their waists, around their necks and a few are shifty enough to whirl them around their knees. A Times photographer snapped a group in front of the Majestic Theater this morning while they were waiting for the box office to open. They are: First row, left to right: Mary Ann Hartzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon P. Hartzell Jr.; Carla Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver; Jean Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Anderson, and Mary Beth Murdock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murdock. Second row: Diane Taug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Taughnbaugh; Robert Rosenberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rosenberry; Pamela Pentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pentz; Carol Weinberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Weinberg. Third row: Cynthia Wieder, daughter of Mrs. Jean Wieder; Penny Pentoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Pentoney, and Helen Oyler, daughter of Mrs. Nadine Oyler.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS TAKE LOOK AT TASK

A panel of Gettysburg High School teachers, parents and guest educators took a look Friday afternoon at the secondary school program at the concluding session of a one-day workshop while pupils enjoyed a day of vacation.

The teachers were told that "high schools are not doing a poor job of preparing pupils for college" but some of the speakers suggested ways of improving both the methods and the products. The afternoon's discussions took place in a setting provided by Dr. John Anderson, retired Butler, Pa., superintendent of schools, who discussed the "Present Day Philosophy of the Secondary School Program." Dr. Russell Rosenberger, head of the Education Department at Gettysburg College, was chairman for the program in which seven other speakers participated.

Basic Aims Don't Change

Dr. Anderson referred to definitions of the goals of secondary education that have been given through the last four decades and said: "They have these threads in common that each individual shall have in education an opportunity to realize his maximum potential as a person and the parallel concern that the society of all men shall consequently be enhanced."

Some of the questions he raised in connection with the education of youth included: "How do we determine latent ability and what subjects should be studied to develop that ability; should students be grouped for instruction and what adjustments should be made for differences between them; how much time do we need for instruction and what have we attained our goal in developing pupils' abilities?"

Sees Summer Sessions

Gilmore Seavers, admittance officer at the Shippensburg State Teachers College, predicted a broadening of the high school curriculum through use of summer sessions. He spoke also of the need for special grouping and instruction. (Continued On Page 2)

McSherrystown Chief of Police Mannard Masemer said Laughman's cycle caught fire about 7 o'clock after skidding into a car operated on Main St., McSherrystown, by David H. Lawrence, 51, Hanover R. 4. JURORS FIND TWO BROTHERS ARE INNOCENT

Robert Wherley, 24, Littlestown R. D., and his brother, James Wherley, 21, Hanover, were found innocent by an Adams County jury late Friday afternoon on a charge of robbery brought against them by an acquaintance of many years standing.

The two had been accused of three counts of robbing Robert J. Sponseller, 20, East Berlin R. 2. The court threw out two of the counts when the prosecution had completed its case. The jury reached its verdict on the third count after nearly two hours deliberation.

Members of the jury were heard in loud debate during the early part of their deliberation in the closed jury room. At about 5:20 o'clock the jurors came into the court room to ask for further instructions, then returned to the jury room and reached their final verdict within a few minutes.

Resume On Monday

During the afternoon the jury had heard several other young men of the East Berlin area testify that Sponseller had told them that the Wherleys had "borrowed" money from him, rather than robbing him of the sum. The Wherleys had contended they borrowed the money.

Justice of the Peace Claude Straley, New Oxford, before whom Sponseller had brought the charges against the Wherleys, originally said that at the hearing before him, "Robert Wherley wanted to give Sponseller $250 but Sponseller estimated that they owed him about $1,000 by that time."

JAIL COUNTIAN FOR LEAVING CRASH SCENE

Emerson Taylor, Biglerville R. 1, who fled into the woods when his car struck the auto of Mrs. Catherine Bollinger, Mummasburg Rd., near the Peace Light Inn, was sentenced to 30 days in jail by the Adams County Court this morning and ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and costs. He was charged with failing to give his identity at the scene of a crash following the accident.

Taylor told the court that he had had "a few beers" before but thought that the impact of the accident had half knocked him out and that he did not know what he was doing and for that reason fled the scene.

Thomas E. Smith, New Oxford R. 1, who had been found guilty on a morals charge, was given a suspended sentence and placed in custody of the sheriff until arrangements can be made for his admission to a hospital in Harrisburg.

Franklin St. and he had continued on without stopping. He was caught near Bonneauville.

6 Months' Sentence

William D. Tully, 27, Fairfield R. 1, was sentenced to six months in the Allegheny County workhouse on a charge of obtaining money by false pretense. The incident occurred the same day Tully had been released from the Adams County Jail after a previous arrest on a similar charge and the court was told that there is yet a similar check charge outstanding against him.

Tully said that the check he passed had been written by another man whom he had met in the county jail and that the two then arranged to cash the forged check.

Earl H. Hilbert, Littlestown R. 1, was sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $50 for the use of the county and the costs on a charge of driving while under the influence. Hilbert was told that he may be paroled in 30 days, one of the conditions being that he stay away from another man's wife. When Hilbert told of the situation, Judge W. C. Sheely said: "You had better get a padlock on your car if women are going to chase you like that."

on regular patrol on Route 30 at Mt. Newman and that her car was "weaving all over the road." He said that she "nearly ran me off the road before I could get her stopped." He said that a truck driver who had followed her for four miles said that she had been on the wrong side of the highway for a mile and that the truck driver on several occasions had to "shepherd her by pulling up along side and honking his horn to get her back on the right side of the road to prevent an accident."

Others Jailed

Louis W. Metz, Orrtanna R. 1, was sentenced to 15 days in jail and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of driving during suspension. Metz had not had a license for approximately 25 years, according to his statement in court last month.

Judge Sheely told Metz that he noticed that he had brought along a bundle of clothing in anticipation of a jail sentence and that he did not wish to disappoint him.

Ralph Lee Ridgeway, 19, Brunswick, Md., formerly of Zora, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of stealing a saddle, bridle and saddle-bags from the Zora Hereford Farm. State police said the bridle and saddle had been recovered but that the saddle-bags had been sold. Ridgeway said he received $12 for the saddle-bags. The youth told the court that he had just completed a six-month term in a Maryland prison for stealing automobile tires and "that was the first time I was ever in jail and that was the longest, hardest summer I ever spent and I would like to get a break."

Cyril D. Hockensmith, Hanover, charged with violation of the Uniform Firearms Act, was given a suspended sentence and was told that arrangements are being made to commit him for 90 days to a Harrisburg hospital for observation.

Grover Cleveland Zimmerman Jr., Finksburg R. 1, Md., was given a suspended sentence on condition he pay $150 for the use of the county and costs on a charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident. Littlestown Policeman Calvin W. Mummert said that Zimmerman's car had broken a plate glass window at the Ralph White Garage in Littlestown. Zimmerman told the court that his bumper apparently must have caught the window and that while he had heard a noise while pulling out from the garage, he thought he had struck an oil can and did not know his vehicle had broken a window. He said that the next morning when he learned that the window had been broken he returned to the garage to pay for it.

Negroes Will Not Attempt To Attend Private School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Negro children will not show up at a private high school which starts here Monday, says an NAACP leader.

The Little Rock Private School Corp. announced Friday it will begin classes for white seniors in a 50-year-old building formerly used by the University of Arkansas Graduate Center.

Public donations are being used in the private school venture. Mrs. L. C. Bates, Arkansas president of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, said Friday night no Negro students would try to enter the private school Monday or "as long as there are no state funds being used."

Plans Legal Test

But an NAACP attorney promised a legal test of the operation. Little Rock's four public high schools were closed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus to block integration. Horace Mann High, a Negro institution is one of the four.

Previously Mrs. Bates had said Negroes would appear at any high school, public or private, that opened in Little Rock.

Business Roars Ahead At Better Than $440 Billion

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business took another giant step along the comeback trail this week.

Total production of goods and services roared along at an annual clip of better than 440 billion dollars. Government economists said it should hit a record 450 billions by year-end.

The previous high — reached last summer before the recession made itself felt — was 443½ billions.

Stepped up production of steel, copper, aluminum, zinc and lead contributed mightily to the economy's forward surge this week. So did consumer buying.

Rails Get Lift

The quickened economic tempo gave the railroads a lift — freight carloadings touched a new 1958 high for the fifth straight week. On the national economic level, the fast pace of recovery showed up vividly in a brand new batch of government statistics:

1. Personal income of Americans climbed in September to a record annual rate of 357½ billion dollars (adjusted for seasonal variations). That's a gain of 11 billions since February's recession low.

2. Output of U. S. mines and factories climbed to 137 per cent of the 1947-49 average — at a time (September) when Detroit was up to its neck in labor strife and model changeovers and auto production had slowed to a crawl.

More New Homes

3. Private housing starts in September soared to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,220,000 foundations poured — highest since October 1955.

Confidence ruled this week from main street to Wall Street — and dispelled much of the gloom that had shrouded Automobile Row.

It was very much in evidence, too, at the annual Hot Springs, Va., meeting of President Eisenhower's Business Advisory Council, a group comprising the biggest names in U. S. industry, trade and finance. Consensus of the corporate elite: the recovery will continue to gain momentum if the new 1959 cars catch on.

The stock market thundered to a series of new record highs in the heaviest trading in years. Bulls took a sharp hike in margin requirements (from 70 to 90 per cent) in stride.

Stock Sales Up

Stock sales in the latest week totaled 24,402,570 shares compared to 19,104,940 shares in the previous week and 13,157,631 in the same week last year.

Bond sales had a par value of $33,025,000 in the latest week, $30,098,000 in the previous week and $24,148,600 in the corresponding 1957 week.

Business in the nation's retail stores picked up briskly. Dollar volume of retail trade as measured by Dun & Bradstreet showed gains ranging from 4 to 8 per cent over a year ago.

A new note of prosperity was injected by General Motors this week.

Glittering Motorama

After a lapse of one year, the big auto maker revived its glittering Motorama — A three-million-dollar extravaganza featuring Broadway showgirls, GM's dream cars of the future, and the new Cadillacs, Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets for 1959.

There was a good chance that many of the 7,900,000 Americans who bought new cars in 1955 would be ready to buy again now.

GM dealers had one big complaint — a shortage of cars. With local labor issues still unresolved, GM's 124 U. S. auto plants have been shut down since Oct. 2.

Briefly over the business scene:

Defense Spending

Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles told businessmen that defense spending in fiscal 1960 may exceed 42 billion dollars. A new retail giant is in the making — a company that will unite Hecht & Co. of Washington, D. C., and Baltimore with May Department Stores Co. Combined annual sales of the two firms will top 635 million dollars. Cigarette manufacturers shipped a record 39,600,000,000 cigarettes in August — up 4.3 per cent from the like 1957 month.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, resigned as a trustee of the Samuel H. Kress foundation. Ryan Aeronautical Co. of Los Angeles received a 2 million-dollar contract to produce radar navigation equipment for the U. S. Navy. In the past 8½ years, the U. S. population has climbed from 150 million to 175 million. At that rate it should reach 200 million by 1967. Don't look now, but the derby hat is trying for comeback. In Midtown Manhattan where executives of the nation's top advertising agencies ply their trade, the iron hat is getting to be known as the "Madison Avenue crash helmet."

town, suffered lacerations of the nose and left cheek, but did not seek immediate medical treatment after an auto accident at 4:30 o'clock three-tenths of a mile south of New Oxford on the Hanover Rd. State police said Wolf was driving south when Barbara L. Kuhn, 18, New Oxford R. 1, also driving south, attempted to pass the Wolf vehicle. At that moment Wolf sought to make a left turn and the front of the 1957 Ford driven by Miss Kuhn struck the side of Wolf's 1947 Willys, spinning the Wolf sedan about and upsetting it on the road. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Wolf auto, the entire value of the car, and $50 to Miss Kuhn's 1957 auto.

$200 Accident

Damage totaled $200, but no one was injured, in an accident at 6:05 o'clock two miles north of Biglerville on the Centre Mills Rd. State police said C. M. Conover, 81, Aspers, was driving on a legislative route crossing the Centre Mills Rd. and had entered the intersection first when his car was hit by a southbound auto operated by Dale W. Trump, 18, New Oxford R. 2.

State police are continuing their investigations of the Wolf-Kuhn and Conover-Trump accidents.

HIGH SCHOOL

struction from the Seventh grade level for the talented pupils headed for college.

Miss Mary Kay Baughman, secretary to the First National Bank president, suggested more attention be given in the business curriculum to grooming, manners and correct speech habits and public relations generally. She said it is important to teach the pupil the importance of doing a good job in high school.

Lloyd Lebo, vocational advisor in Lebanon County schools, urged teachers to visit pupils' homes as the best approach to teaching and discipline problems. He suggested an auto mechanics course for student drivers, a farming course for eighth graders and a course to train "potential consumers" after reviewing progress in vocational education since the days of domestic science and manual science training of a generation or two ago.

Too Much Extra-Curricular

Mrs. Rebecca Cronlund, a local parent, urged teachers to "keep up the good work here. She asked teachers "to keep alive for pupils their joy of learning, a part of each child's nature so easily lost."

She urged teaching by challenge and inspiration rather than threats or warnings and to help pupils to seek good grades not for their own sake but for their interest in the subject matter.

Mrs. Richard Sleichter, who appeared as a local parent and teacher, suggested too much time and energy is devoted to extra-curricular activities overloading both teachers and some pupils. She suggested supervised classroom study instead of study halls and recommended reducing the number of activity periods for each week.

Mrs. Ruth Joseph, a commercial teacher, said pupils like most people today are seeking the easy way to get through school. "They must realize they can't loaf through high school and yet be prepared for college or a job. They must be helped to the ability to stretch themselves beyond doing just what is expected or required," she added.

Miss Louise Ramer, high school guidance counselor, urged teachers to help their pupils with the tests they give. "The straight objective tests to test knowledge of facts is not meeting their needs. They must learn to comprehend, reason and think for themselves," she said, adding that "our pupils ought to be doing better in the national merit tests."

Dr. Rosenberger said college-bound pupils would be helped by some use of the lecture method in high school to train them in note-taking and the use of some essay-type exams.

At the morning session the teachers heard Dr. Richard Gibbons of the state Department of public instruction discuss state-mandated changes in the high school curriculum.

Man Blown To His Death By Bomb He Had In Package

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — What had Forrest Don McCuiston planned to do with the bomb that exploded and killed him in the Wichita Air Terminal Friday?

Commit suicide? If so, he was instantly successful. The bomb went off in a passageway just off the main lobby of the terminal, killing McCuiston outright. Minutes earlier, he had arrived on a flight from Kansas City, carrying the bomb in a brown paper package.

But if he meant to kill himself, why use a bomb? In a brief case he was carrying there was a .32-caliber automatic pistol, which would have provided a more conventional means to self-destruction. And if suicide was intended, why had he taken out a $25,000 flight insurance policy? A spokesman for the company that issued the policy said it would be worthless if suicide were established.

If suicide wasn't McCuiston's intent, what was?

Gets Full Probe

The FBI and Secret Service agents joined city police in investigating the incident, since President Eisenhower was to visit Salina and Abilene, Kan., about 90 miles to the north, later in the day. But the agents disclosed no evidence of a link between the bombing and the President's visit.

Nobody but McCuiston was hurt by the explosion, although it shattered glass throughout the building and there were about 50 people in the lobby.

Twenty-three persons were aboard the plane that brought McCuiston and the bomb to Wichita. Of these, two remembered McCuiston.

Seemed Preoccupied

Donald E. Rivers of Kansas City sat behind him, and noticed the package when he got up to leave. Rivers said that's about all he recalled.

Miss Donna Folsom of Dallas, Tex., the plane's hostess, remembered the package too.

"I remember the man taking (it) down from the luggage rack as he left," she recalled. "It was larger than a shoe box. He carried it under his arm."

During the flight, Miss Folsom said, McCuiston seemed preoccupied, and in Wichita "when I said good-bye to him he didn't answer, but just walked on past."

McCuiston, 36, could have been preoccupied for a number of reasons. Federal court records in Oklahoma City show he was convicted last June 24 on four counts of income tax evasion and placed on three years probation. At his home in Tulsa, Okla., his wife, Mary, said he had been out of a job about a month and had gone to Wichita to seek employment.

MEET MONDAY

o'clock Thursday night, October 30, to pass the ordinance prohibiting dumping by outsiders, and carry on any other business that may come before the board.

A large number of townships have passed anti-dumping ordinances, including Cumberland, but Straban's specifies only "no dumping from outside." Not one word in the ordinance refers to Straban Twp. debris. All pertains to debris originating outside the township.

Pointing up the urgency of Monday's meeting is a state Health Department order telling the borough that after December 1 it can no longer use the present dump in Cumberland Twp. The town must make other arrangements to dispose of its debris before that date.

Much Of County Involved

Monday night's meeting will be devoted to a motion picture and discussion on the "sanitary landfill" method of disposal — but even that method would apparently be barred in Straban Twp. according to the proposed ordinance there.

Gettysburg officials hold that much of the county should be interested in the town's debris disposal problem. Debris from every community in western Adams county currently goes in to Gettysburg's dump. When that dump closes they, as well as Gettysburg, will have the problem of disposal.

Thomas T. Lynch, regional sanitarian for the state Department of Health, will be the speaker and "chief question answerer" at the portion of Monday's meeting pertaining to garbage disposal, President Oyler said.

Traffic Problems Too

The other half of the public meeting will be devoted to traffic, with engineers from the state Department of Highways present to discuss the survey of traffic made in Gettysburg two years ago and its meaning to the community.

A number of local organizations have discussed having representation at Monday evening's session. The Women's Civic Council, which normally would have met Friday night, postponed that session until Monday and will attend the public meeting as a group.

but added that she understood that this had been brought up to the school board "where it was dropped."

Mrs. Stanley Hull spoke on the parent's responsibility for the child's preparation and wondered about the prospect for public kindergarten in Gettysburg.

Sterling Musselman, who discussed school lunch and buildings, told that he had lunched at one of the cafeterias and was most favorably impressed by the operation of the lunch program. He raised the question of suitable play area at Keefeauver and it was generally agreed that existing facilities are less than might be desired.

Confusion exists in the public mind about grouping and special education, Mrs. Daniel Teeter found in the inquiries she made preparatory to discussing these subjects. Especially, she said, there seems to be confusion between special education and day care. The former, she pointed out, is for those who can be educated but who may lag in learning while the latter is for those who are only "trainable."

Mrs. Teeter said she found "strong opinions both ways" in respect to grouping practices. These, Richard A. Folkenroth, elementary principal, said, are much misunderstood. Some grouping is done in grades 5 and 6 on the basis of achievement, but there are other groupings based on such things as reading ability. Through grouping, he explained, the teachers can work most effectively since it is not necessary to key the study pace to the abilities of the slower pupil. It was pointed out that the slower pupil also benefits and cases were cited where the tailored instruction aided these pupils in improving.

Mrs. S. Blaine Miller reported on her survey of parents regarding report cards and promotion policies. Many parents do not understand some features of the report card, she learned. She said that in respect to promotion policy, most of the expression she found was that if a child is going to have to repeat a grade during his schooling, it should be detected as early as possible so that he may repeat in one of the lower grades. Folkenroth said that the faculty aims to accomplish this and noted that in the past years about 10 per cent of first graders were not promoted. He said that he expects the proportion will be lower this year because of more effective testing of beginners.

We fail to gain a great deal of happiness merely because we are not alert in sharing it with others. Happiness, held tight, and unshared, soon loses its significance. It's the one fine thing that soars in human value the more of it we give away.That which we share we really invest in others who return our gift share in the form of appreciation. Appreciation never loses its lustre. The years never fail to pay it homage. The lack of it, however, has measured out starvation to many a worthy and deserving human being.
America is happier and greater because of all that she has distributed of food and clothes to needy countries throughout the world. She will never lose by it. As individuals we are always blessed for sharing with others. How very wonderful if we would try and share our love, our cheer, our understanding, and sympathy with those who so sorely need and invite it!

I love to share my love for books and art with others, and to encourage them in their appreciation. Beauty in all out-of-doors, and everywhere in little hidden places, fascinates and enriches me, and so it will anyone. God never created a dull thing. There is endless beauty of design all through Nature. And what miracles are to be discovered where least expected!

God created an over-supply of things so that we all might learn the lesson and share what we can with others.

By B. F. M. MacPherson

In the "Adams Centinel" for Monday, April 21, 1845, the following obituary appeared:—
"Died, Wednesday morning, April 16, 1845, at his residence in Millerstown (Fairfield), this County, the Rev. William Paxton, D.D., in the 87th year of his age. Dr. Paxton prosecuted his theological studies under the tuition of the Rev. Mr. Sample, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He was licensed as a probationer to the Gospel ministry by the Presbytery of New Castle. Soon afterwards he visited what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, and preached to the people of Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, by whom he was soon afterwards called to become their pastor. On October 3, 1792, he was ordained to the Gospel ministry, and installed pastor over the above-named church by the Presbytery of Carlisle. He exercised this office, with great acceptance to his people, until October 13, 1841; when, at his own request, due to the infirmities of age, the Presbytery dissolved the relation. During the last ten years of his life three of his children died."Of those who composed the Presbytery of Carlisle, when the Rev. Dr. Paxton became a member, but one is yet alive. The Rev. Mr. John Black, the Rev. Mr. Davidson, Rev. Mr. Joseph Henderson, Rev. Mr. Waugh, Rev. Mr. McKnight, the Rev. Dr. John King, the Rev. Dr. Nesbitt, and the Rev. LOS ANGELES (AP)—A $3,575,000 libel suit has been filed by actor James Mason, who charges that a television producer accused him of being disloyal to England.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six leading makers of wonder drugs have asked the Federal Trade Commission to dismiss a complaint alleging they attempted to monopolize the antibiotics industry. The firms denied the charge.

In similar replies, the companies said it was untrue that they had fixed and maintained non-competitive prices for the best selling tetracycline antibiotics. These drugs are sold under various trade names, including Aureomycin and Terramycin. The FTC complaint, filed July 23, leveled a principal accusation at Chas. Pfizer & Co., Brooklyn. The firm was charged with making misleading statements to the U.S. Patent Office to get a 1955 patent on tetracycline. Pfizer contended the complaint covers alleged offenses outside FTC jurisdiction.

Patent "Valid"
American Cyanamid Co., New York City, one of the six firms, said a patent issued by the patent office "is presumed to be valid."
Cyanamid added that licensing arrangements between Pfizer and the five other companies made it possible for the firms to compete vigorously in the sale of tetracycline.

Other named in the complaint were Bristol-Myers Co., New York City; Bristol Laboratories Inc., Syracuse, N.Y.; Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., New York City, and the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.

President Wisconsin State CollegeACADEMIC INAUGURALS
Fanfare Makes for Good Publicity
Dr. Elvehjem Takes Helm At U. of Wisc.

The University of Wisconsin has a new president. His name is Conrad A. Elvehjem. To pronounce: Accent on first syllable, the "v" as in victor, and rhyming with hell-with-im in his new job, that is a good name to have.

If and when somebody hollers some such phrase at him, he can take the benefit of the doubt and assume it is a friendly greeting, by name!

For example, since I became a college president, a surprising number of people have spelled my last name with an "e" instead of an "i" but I've always assured Mrs. Hill it was due to sloppy penmanship. She has been too considerate to disagree.

Thus Dr. Elvehjem does have a most advantageous name.

THOUGH DR. ELVEHJEM has been on the job since last June, he was not "inaugurated" until last weekend.

Some historical minded orator at the event in Madison said it was the second such ceremony in the university's history.

This suggests there was a day when a university president could quietly check in on the new job and remain more or less inconspicuous until he could learn the ground rules.

MODERN PUBLICITY ended all that.

Who could expect great universities with sharp journalism departments, alert offices of public information, departments of creative writing, public speech, courses in TV productions, to pass up such an opportunity to dramatize the progress and growing problems of higher education in general and their own enviable, institutional record in particular?

That is why all colleges and universities in recent years have been going in for "inaugurals."

AMONG the older American colleges and universities along the Atlantic coast, such affairs often include long winded, central-theme symposiums that last three or four days.

A few honorary degrees, usually to people who already have honorary degrees, are passed out in a final, climactic convocation. There is much colorful marching and counter marching among the autumnal colors in equally gaudy caps and gowns.

This type of inauguration yields much mileage in headlines, TV space, radio broadcasts and Sunday pictorials.

Such affairs in the East have been known to crowd football from the regional university news.

John Fox Is Indicted By Jury

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John Fox, Boston financier and a figure in the congressional investigation of the Sherman Adams — Bernard Goldfine case, is under indictment on a criminal libel charge.

An Allegheny County grand jury returned the indictment Friday. The charge was preferred by Atty. William F. Beatty, counsel for the Devonian Gas and Oil Co., its burch.

Beatty contends that a telegram sent him by Fox last June 15 demanding profits on an oil lease was libelous. No date has been set for a trial.

Fox was a witness before a Senate committee that investigated former Presidential secretary Sherman Adams' relations with Goldfine, a Boston industrialist. Adams has since resigned his government post.

Oliver Goldsmith, Canada's first native-born poet, was a grandnephew of the Irish poet of the same name.

There were no honorary degrees, no caps and gowns, no abstruse themes — just food and forensics! Both were extremely good.

Nevertheless, one university faculty member complained about both. So I asked him why he had bothered to attend.

He said college and university presidents were gone so much, he wanted to get a good, long, hard look at the new chief so he would recognize him if and when he might meet him on the campus.

THE DEMANDS of his new job will indeed take Dr. Elvehjem from his office and home so often and so long it will become an increasing item of resentment to him.

The truly brilliant guest speaker was Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University and an alumnus of Wisconsin U.

In his remarks, he further offered Dr. Elvehjem the discomfiting thought that no matter what sort of university president he might strive to be there was little likelihood of popular acclaim of any success.

To concentrate on budgets is inviting the label of fund grubber and legislation lobbyist; emphasis on "intellectual leadership" will bring the inaccessible-ivory-tower accusation; to delegate responsibilities will suggest "lack of interest in fundamentals"; and personal attention to fundamentals will bring the accusation of bottle-necking university progress, Dr. Kirk warned.

But the rewards outweigh the dangers, he added. The opportunity to aid so many young students and scholars and to participate in the challenge of modern demands on today's higher education is indeed a rich reward.

And this humble scribe is betting Dr. Elvehjem meets that challenge, to reap that intangible but truly soul satisfying reward.

WORLD FAIR ENDS SUNDAY IN BRUSSELS

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Brussels World Fair, which made a highbrow pitch for the tourist trade, is closing its gates Sunday after having entertained 42 million visitors in six months and two days.

Among its vital statistics are 2,000 lost children—who were returned to their parents.

After the curtain drops on the show—the biggest ever held anywhere—dismantling of the hundreds of surrealistic and more conventional buildings spread over the nearly 500 acres of parks will begin. Nothing will remain but the huge atomium with its nine shiny spheres linked by steel tubes which were the landmark of the fair.

48 Countries

The huge show, in which 48 countries took part, had as its theme: "for a more human world." The response to its highbrow appeal was amazing.

The music broadcast on the fair loudspeakers made no concession to rock 'n' roll. Mozart, Bach, Beethoven and other world known composers were the musical background.

Visitors were confronted with an electronic brain which answered historical questions in the American pavilion, recorded voices of great authors in the French buildings, a studio where opera could be watched every day in the Austrian pavilion.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

MERCER, Pa. (AP)—A woman and a teen-aged girl—only survivors of a multiple vehicle traffic collision that killed three men—were reported in good condition today.

The crash involved a tractor-trailer loaded with coal and two autos. It occurred late Friday at the intersection of Routes 19 and 62 just north of Mercer.

The survivors are Mrs. Louis Harry, 37, of Mercer R. 4, and Scherren Squires, 15, of Grove City R. 3. They are patients in Mercer Cottage Hospital.

Killed in the crash were James K. Houk, 29, of New Castle R. 4, driver of the big rig; Dr. William E. Bicklin, 75, of Hutchinson, Kan., a chiropractor, and L. R. Patterson, 85, of Stoneboro R. 3.

State police said Dr. Nicklin and Patterson were riding in an auto that apparently entered Route 19 directly in the path of the truck. They said Houk, attempting to avoid a crash, then hit the auto driven by Mrs. Harry, with whom the girl was riding.

Warriors Scalped 13-6 By Middletown Raiders Who Seize Two Breaks

Capitalizing on a fumble and blocked punt which led to two touchdowns in the second quarter, Middletown's Blue Raiders handed Gettysburg High a bitter defeat 13-6 here Friday evening to virtually erase whatever hopes the Warriors held to figure in the South Penn Conference title race.

Gettysburg received the opening kickoff, and promptly marched 65 yards to score in 15 plays. Spearheaded by quarterback Joel Riddemoser and fullback Bob Furney, who accounted for 48 of the 65 yards, the Maroons swept to the 13 in only 10 plays. Ted Fair skirted left end to the four, and Riddemoser and Furney alternated shots at the Middletown line, with Furney carrying it over from the one. Fair's dropkick was low, but Gettysburg held a 6-0 lead after 6:20 of the first quarter.

Hanover, 38; Waynesboro, 7.

Next Friday's Games
Hershey at Gettysburg.
Hanover at Carlisle.
Chambersburg at Middletown.

Sideline notes: Ben Jones, Warrior coach, came up with his version of the "lonesome" end by having Captain Gary Maitland split about 10 yards from his right tackle during the Warriors' TD drive in the opening quarter. Dick and Harold Kinsey, Raider brothers, were fine performers on the line for Middletown—heavy showers prior to the game took its toll as the crowd was held to about 1,500—Gettysburg showed its expected form in that opening quarter scoring drive but seemed to lose its scrap after falling behind—Middletown's pass defense was exceptionally strong, allowing but one short completion in 13 tries—both bands put on nice half-time exhibitions, Middletown using white and blue baton lights while the field was darkened.

PAT M'MURTRY EASILY BEATS CHUVALO IN 10

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—A small army in search of bright, fresh quotes invaded the dressing room of victorious Pat McMurtry. The rangy young heavyweight from Tacoma, Wash. had just beaten Toronto's George Chuvalo rather handsily. Presumably he would be shouting, "I want the champ."

Actually Pat wasn't talking at all until somebody asked a question.

"Are you ready for Floyd Patterson (heavyweight champ)?"

"When will Patterson be ready for somebody?" Pat countered, almost as effectively as he had jabbed and upper cut 21-year-old Chuvalo in the Madison Square Garden ring Friday night.

Maybe Valdes
That was a good question. It was calculated to confound any group, most of whom were on speaking terms with Cus D'Amato, the champ's evasive manager. They switched their attack to grey-haired Clarence McMurtry, the boy's father-manager.

"Do you want Patterson?" they asked.

"How can you get him?" the old gent replied.

As Patterson seems out of reach at the minute, McMurtry Sr. said he thought "maybe Nino Valdes" might be a good opponent for his son. The Garden people offered Valdes, Zora Folley or Tony Anthony for a December date.

It didn't take long to dispose of the Garden fight, a lopsided unanimous decision for McMurtry. Referee Ruby Goldstein had 8-1-1, Judge Frank Forbes 8-2 and Judge Aida 7-3, all for Pat. The AP saw it the same way 8-2.

Field Goal Try Fails
McGraw attempted a field goal for Middletown from the 20-yard line, with about two minutes remaining in the game but it was a shade short. The big ground gainers for the Warriors were Riddemoser, with 41 yards in seven tries, and Bob Furney who churned up 67 yards in 14 attempts.

The loss gives Gettysburg a South Penn record of one win and two losses, 1-3-1 overall, while Middletown is now 2-3-1, 2-2 in league play.

Next Friday evening powerful Hershey comes here to oppose the Warriors.

Dedicate Football Game To Veterans

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Tonight's College of the Pacific-Cincinnati football game will be dedicated to two men who were all-Americans before the turn of the century—Amos Alonzo Stagg and Pat O'Dea.

Stagg, 96, was named All-America by Walter Camp in 1889 when he played at Yale. He went on to the University of Chicago, where he coached until 1933, then moved to COP. Later he coached at Susquehanna University and is still active in the same capacity at Stockton College.

O'Dea, who played for Wisconsin, was named to Camp's second team in 1898 and to the third team in 1899. He coached later at Notre Dame and is now 86.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain comes to Madison Square Garden tonight.

The former Kansas All-America will appear on a twin-bill with other stars of the 1957-58 college season, but he'll be playing for the Harlem Globetrotters against the Philadelphia Spahrs in the opener.

The other collegians, including All-America Guy Rodgers, will appear on an all-star team that will meet the New York Knicks of the NBA in a charity exhibition game.

CHICAGO (AP)—Carl Nilsen, an international ski champion, died Friday night. He was 68.

Nilsen, four times U.S. senior division ski jumping champion, was past president of both the National and Central Ski Assns.

If 1924, he won honors as the most graceful skier in International Championships at Cary, Ill. Nilsen represented the United States in the Norwegian International Ski Championships in 1926.

Cause of death was not announced.

LUDLOW, Mass. (AP) — Two holes in one were scored Friday in the Ben Loving Memorial Golf Tournament at the Ludlow Country Club.

Pro Ed Rubis aced the 233-yard first hole and amateur Ray Magdelenski sank his tee shot on the 200-yard 16th.

Rubis, the 1957 champion, finished with a 69, one stroke behind Herb Marcussen who won. Magdelenski was far back with an 80.

ADA, Okla. (AP)—For most of his six years in the Ada school system, quarterback Bruce Long has never scored a touchdown.

Last week he got his first in a game with Ardmore High School and liked it so well he scored all three Friday night as Ada whipped Wewoka 21-0 to run its unbeaten string to 27.

Finn Runner Wins 4,000 Meter Run

ALDERSHOT, England (AP)—The Soviet Union scored an overwhelming victory in the eighth modern pentathlon world championships Friday but the cheers were for Kurt Lindeman.

The 26-year-old Finnish infantry officer was the only athlete from outside the Iron Curtain to pierce the tight Soviet ranks. He won the 4,000-meter cross country run, which closed the championships, with a 14:24.6 clocking.

Lt. Lindeman was the only athlete from a non-communist country to win a title. He finished second to Russia's Ignor Novikov in the over-all standings.

Russians also placed third and fourth to claim the team title by a margin of 1,124 points. The United States finished fourth as Hungary took second and Finland third.

STEELERS TO FACE BROWNS IN BIG SCRAP

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The trip from Detroit to Pittsburgh can hardly be considered transcontinental, but when you make it in the NFL, as Bobby Layne did two weeks ago, it means going from the Western Conference to the Eastern.

It also means you do the bulk of your quarterbacking against an entirely different set of home-and-home opponents, the Cleveland Browns among them if you call the signals for an Eastern team like the Steelers.

That should suit Layne just fine. The blond Texan has never called a losing regular season game against the Browns. With Layne at quarterback, the Lions won regular season games from the Browns in 1952, '54 and '57.

In the latter contest he suffered a broken ankle and was unable to play against the Browns in the '57 NFL title game won by the Lions. But in the '52, '53 and '54 title games Layne-led teams topped the Browns 2-1.

Other Games
Sunday, Layne will be at the controls of the Steelers who meet the Browns at Cleveland in one of six games on a full NFL card.

In another all-Eastern battle, the Chicago Cardinals are at the New York Giants.

The Western Conference features the division-leading Baltimore Colts at the Lions, and the Los Angeles Rams at the Chicago Bears.

In inter-conference action the San Francisco 49ers are at the Philadelphia Eagles, and the Green Bay Packers at the Washington Redskins.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Carpenters today readied a wooden floor for temporary installation in the Sistine Chapel.

The floor will be placed over the present floor to eliminate steps and slopes, and prevent any accidents when the cardinals gather Oct. 25 to elect a new Roman Catholic Pope.

In 1939, a Vatican source said, the temporary floor did not cover a few steps. The cardinal who was then elected Pope — Pius XII — tripped on the stairs and fell. But he was not hurt.

CONVICTED IN CINDERS DEAL

SMETHPORT, Pa. (AP) — Vincent Swartz, 52, of Mahanoy City, was convicted Friday by a McKean County jury on charges of short weighing the State Highways Dept. of nearly $3.00 worth of cinders in 1956.

Counsel for Swartz immediately filed an appeal for a new trial. He is the second Schuylkill County man convicted on such a charge.

Last Thursday, a similar verdict was returned against John Harris Jr., 32, of Frackville.

The state charged that both Harris and Swartz sold cinders to the State Highways Dept. and delivered short weights.

The jury deliberated Swartz's case for about four hours. The verdict carried no recommendation for leniency. The jury that convicted Harris recommended leniency. Harris also has filed an appeal for a new trial. Arguments in both cases will be heard Nov. 25.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has again denied knowing what happened to 11 U.S. airmen on a plane that crashed in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2. The tone of its denial indicated the subject is closed so far as the Kremlin is concerned.

The Russians have returned the bodies of six Americans killed in the crash of the U. S. Air Force C130.

The plane was carrying 17 persons when it crashed. The U. S. State Department said Soviet fighters forced the unarmed transport to leave its course over Turkey and fly into Soviet Armenia.

TOP ELEVEN FACE BIG TESTS ON GRID TODAY

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Army, Oklahoma, Auburn, Wisconsin and Maine (yes, Maine) all were involved in important games today.

Army, the nation's No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, entertained Virginia and, of course, needed a convincing victory to keep its lofty status. The Cadets, with their lonely end of fence, appeared to be in no trouble, for Virginia has lost three of its four games and its top passer, Reece Whitley, is out with an injured leg.

Oklahoma, deflated by Texas last week, went against Kansas in its first Big Eight game of the season. The Sooners still have a streak going. They haven't lost a league game since Kansas turned the trick, 16-13, in 1946. Meanwhile, they have recorded 63 loop victories and 2 ties.

4 Regional Games
Auburn, last year's national champion and currently ranked No. 2, played Georgia Tech, an opponent that could prove a problem, indeed. The Yellow Jackets are made of the same stuff as Auburn—slick defense, not much offense. Auburn has a winning streak of 17.

Wisconsin, which hasn't claimed undisputed possession of the Big 10 title since 1912, is beginning to think in terms of championships and Rose Bowls. The opposition was Iowa, a toughie. Until now, the Badgers haven't had too much opposition (Miami, Marquette and Purdue).

And Maine? Why the Black Bears can be the first team of the season to win a conference championship if they get by Connecticut. That would give them five Yankee Conference triumphs in a row and the title. But Connecticut is the favorite.

Auburn vs. Georgia Tech
There was no nationally televised game today. Instead, there were four regional games—Wisconsin-Iowa, Washington-UCLA, Penn State-Boston University and North Carolina-Maryland.

Except for the Yankee Conference, none of the leagues are even close to being settled.

In the Southwest Conference, Texas meets Arkansas. Records: Texas 4-0, Arkansas 0-4.

Elsewhere the Big 10, Michigan State and Ohio State were favored. Michigan State had a date with Purdue and Ohio State met Indiana.

In the Pacific Coast Conference, it's beginning to look as though Oregon is the class of the field again. The Ducks can't go back to the Rose Bowl, though. Today's opponent was Washington State.

Among the independents, Notre Dame tried to get on the road back against Duke. Pitt crossed path with West Virginia and Navy, riding high again, faced Tulane in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va.

In the only important game Friday night, Richmond defeated George Washington 26-6.

ANTI-RED BOOK MAY GET PRIZE

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An anti-Marxist book by a Soviet writer, banned in Russia "for lack of literary value," may be rewarded with this year's Nobel prize for literature.

The writer who is reported to top the 1958 list of literary Nobel prize candidates is 68-year-old Boris Pasternak, who still lives in Russia.

The book is "Doctor Zhivago," a novel about a wealthy Russian doctor and his trials through this century's wars and revolutions.

The 18 members of the Swedish Academy of Letters are to pick the winner of this year's $41,420 literary prize next Thursday.

The theme of "Dr. Zhivago" is freedom, or rather the lack of it in the Soviet Union, and what this has done to 200 million people.

To get the manuscript printed Pasternak had to give it to a friend who smuggled it out of Russia. The book first appeared in Italian in Italy last year, and ever since the Russians have tried to interfere with its publication elsewhere.

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission planned to fire the ninth full-scale nuclear test shot of the current series from a wooden tower today. Another shot is scheduled for Sunday.

The commission said the device to be detonated today would be in the sub-kiloton range — less than 1,000 tons of TNT. Sunday's device will be fired from beneath a balloon anchored 500 feet above ground.

Unbeaten Juniata Joint Laces Biglerville 32-12; Smith Gets 3 Touchdowns

Two quick touchdowns in the opening period and another in the second frame sparked the Juniata Joint Indians an easy 32-12 victory over the Biglerville Cannons Friday night on the Cannons' field. The loss gives Coach Jack Emanuel's team an 0-4-1 Lower Susquehanna Conference record for the season.

The Indians have now run their winning streak to 30 consecutive wins without a setback and have won their last 26 without a tie.

After Biglerville failed to capitalize on three plays following the opening kickoff, they were forced to punt, Juniata taking over on their own 27-yard line.

A minute and 45 seconds later the Indians were over the goal for their second score. Again Biglerville was forced to punt on fourth down and Juniata took over on their own 45. On the first play from scrimmage Dick Landis shot a jump pass over the line to Phil Ebright who in turn lateraled the ball back to Bill Manbeck who raced 55 yards up the side lines for the tally. This time Smith's conversion attempt was blocked and at the end of the first period Juniata Joint was out in front 13-0.

With three minutes gone by in the second frame Dale Smith took a Don Slaybaugh punt on his own 39-yard line and dodged five Cammer tacklers to gallop 61 yards for the third Indian touchdown. John Ernest's attempt for the conversion was wide.

Harmon Crashes Over
Biglerville broke into the scoring column midway through the second quarter when they staged a 66-yard sustained drive following the Juniata kickoff. Through the hard line plunges of John Harmon and the outside running of halfbacks Howard Vines and Kermit Jacoby, the ball was moved to the Indians' 3-yard line. On two tries Harmon bolted through the line for the score. Harmon's plunge for the extra point was stopped and at half time the Cannons trailed 19-6.

Both teams came right in the third frame and scored TD's minutes apart. Quarterback Dick Landis tallied the Juniata six-pointer from two yards out on a quarterback sneak with Dale Smith adding the extra point via the placement route.

Following the kickoff, Jacoby and Harmon moved the ball from their 35 to the 45. After Jacoby picked up two yards, Vance Johnston, not notch Cammer quarterback, toted the ball off left tackle on a keeper-play for 53 yards behind excellent blocking. Again Jacoby's run for the extra point was stopped.

Juniata tallied their final TD in the fourth period when Dale Smith charged off left tackle for 22 yards. Smith's placement was blocked leaving the final score at 32-12.

Biglerville faced one of the finest small high school teams in the state led by the hard charging of 202-pound junior, Dale Smith. The Cannons were led by fine signal calling and running of Vance Johnston and hard running of John Harmon. Gary Wagner and Dennis Little were the stand-out performers in the Cammer line.

Biglerville will be looking for their first win next Saturday afternoon when they travel to Scotland in a non-conference contest.

Lineups:

Bomb Threats, Anti-Semitic Actions Spread Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A rash of bomb threats plagued Jewish temples and synagogues, a school, a store, an agency and a hospital Friday from Boston to Little Rock, Ark. But no bombs were found in police searches.

The blast threats and other anti-Semitic actions also took place in New York City and Jersey City and Elizabeth, N.J.

Taking another tack, someone phoned the United Arab consulate in New York and said a bomb would explode in the building.

At Little Rock police rushed to B'nai Israel Temple and Agudath Achim Synagogue in the heart of the city after threats that the structures would be bombed were made in letters to the Arkansas Democrat and The Arkansas Gazette.

Guard Jewish Services
Police stood guard Friday night while services were held in B'nai Israel Temple. Synagogue Agudath Achim, about eight blocks away, held no services Friday night.

A telephone caller told Boston police that Beth Israel Hospital would be bombed. Beth Israel is a constituent agency of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies of Boston.

In New York a caller told the operator at Stephen Wise Free Synagogue in Manhattan, "Your synagogue will be next."

A lower East Side factory which makes matzohs, or unleavened bread, got a similar call.

Effigy Is Hanged
In the Bronx an effigy of a male figure was found hanging from an electric light pole in front of the Emanuel Synagogue Youth Center. The headless figure, stuffed with old cloths, bore no sign.

A social worker at the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind was told over the telephone, "There's a bomb there," and the caller hung up.

In New York on Thursday, St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral received two anonymous bomb threats; a plank was thrown through a window of a Hebrew Institute, and a college student was accused of making an anti-Semitic phone call to a Jewish agency.

Anonymous Threat
At Jersey City Friday night the Temple Beth El received an anonymous bomb threat, but services went on as scheduled.

At Elizabeth, about 350 children were evacuated from a Jewish school.

At Peoria, Ill., Friday night the rabbi of bomb-damaged Anshei Emeth Temple read a prayer to his congregation from a blackboard and told his congregation: "If the bomber thought he could destroy this prayer or the thoughts behind it, he was badly mistaken."

Rabbi Joseph L. Ginsberg said the prayer was put on the blackboard by children of the second grade two days before a home-made bomb went off outside the temple annex last Tuesday. The prayer read: "Dear God we thank you for being kind to us. Help us to think of other people. We hope we will be kind to everyone all through the years."

Resume Services
In Atlanta Friday night, Rabbi Jacob M. Rothschild held the first Sabbath service since The Temple was bombed last Sunday. But the blast had its benefits, Rothschild said, adding:

"Together with an aroused humanity, we shall rear from the rubble of devastation a city and a land in which all men are truly brothers—and none shall make them afraid."

Five men were charged Friday with the Atlanta bombing. Their indictment—destroying a house of worship—could bring death sentences under the local law.

BLOCKADE OF JORDAN WILL END IN WEEK

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A Jordan official said today that the United Arab Republic would lift its air and ground blockade of Jordan within the next week.

Abdel Monem Rifai, Jordan's minister of national guidance, told a reporter there was a "gentleman's agreement" that traffic to Jordan, including airline flights and oil truck traffic from Syria, would resume. Press and radio incitement against Jordan also would stop, Rifai said. He added that the tone of the U.A.R. press and radio toward Jordan already had grown friendlier.

Rifai said some British troops would sail for home from Jordan's Port Aqaba on Monday and paratroopers would begin flying out a week from Sunday. He added that all the British forces would be out in about three weeks.

Not Needed
Britain sent her forces into Jordan July 17 at the invitation of King Hussein of Jordan who accused the U. A. R. of trying to subvert his government.

Rifai said the forces would withdraw because they no longer were needed in Jordan, and no threat to the country now existed.

Britain announced on Oct. 1 her intention to start pulling troops out of Jordan by Oct. 20. She previously had urged that the U.A.R. agree to lift the Jordan blockade first.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Armed with a blow torch, Frank McNamara launched a flamethrower attack on bugs which swarmed in a tree near his front porch. Firemen tried a fire from razing McNamara's house, but were unable to save the porch.

BLAST STILL BIG MYSTERY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The source of Friday's blast in the Philadelphia area remained a mystery today.

Philadelphia police said they were certain the explosion — like noise was the result of a jet bomber breaking the sound barrier. But military authorities and the Civil Aeronautics Administration said they knew of no planes flying at supersonic speeds in the area at the time.

Within 30 minutes after the blast, some 5,000 persons had flooded the City Hall switchboard with frantic calls. One woman said her front door was knocked off its hinges.

An air raid alarm sounded in downtown Philadelphia. In nearby Camden, N. J., police rushed out of the Municipal Building looking for the explosion.

SEEK TO END HOTEL STRIKE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Mediation Director Charles T. Douds said today an all-out effort is being made to end the 18-day-old strike of 2,300 employees against five downtown Pittsburgh hotels.

"In a meeting arranged by the Pennsylvania Mediation Service, the parties have negotiated all night in a strenuous and sustained effort to reach an agreement. A number of issues have been resolved and the differences have been substantially narrowed. Efforts to reach a settlement are continuing," he said.

The site of the negotiations was not made public.

The striking unions are Local 237 of the Hotel & Restaurant Employees Alliance, and Local 188 of the Bartenders Union.

Charles T. Carey, president of the Pittsburgh Hotels Assn., which represents the struck hotels, said Friday there was a "glimmer of hope" that a settlement would be reached soon.

10 MISSING IN PLANE CRASH

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy radar patrol plane, transferring personnel from Patuxent, Md., Naval Air Base, crashed in the waters just short of the Argentina, Nfld., airbase early today killing at least one man.

The Navy reported in Washington that 18 men were picked up by crash boats from the Argentina base, but that 10 others still were listed as missing.

The big Super Constellation was flying to Argentina to take its place in the Barrier Aircraft Group which flies radar early warning patrols over the North Atlantic.

It carried 29 men, most of them being reassigned to duty in Newfoundland. Names of the one man reported dead and of the 10 listed as missing were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The Navy said the plane crashed into the water while making an instrument approach to the Argentina runways. There was no immediate indication of the cause of the crash.

Faces Second Trial For Tax Evasion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The federal government will try Frank (Blinky) Palermo, boxing promoter and manager, a second time on a charge of evading income taxes in 1953.

The government asked for the second chance Friday in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The court found Palermo innocent of the charge he had not paid $2,672 in 1953 taxes.

At the same time, the court ordered a new trial on a count he had not paid $4,028 for 1954. Palermo was found guilty of both charges in January.

Littlestown CRIMINAL LAW SPEECH TOPIC

Attorney John D. Thrush, Gettysburg, was the guest speaker at the second October dinner meeting of the Littlestown Lions Club Thursday evening in St. John's Lutheran Church social hall. He spoke on "Criminal Law." Thrush also maintains a law office in the community.

The speaker was introduced by Orville C. Sentz, chairman of the publicity committee, in charge of arranging the evening program. Sentz prefaced the introduction with an invitation to the Lions to visit The Gettysburg Times office, where he is employed, whenever they might be in the area.

The invocation was given by Lion William R. Jones. President H. Dewey Streig presided. One new member was welcomed into the club, Howard Myers. It was noted that the Rev. Mr. Jones visited the Reedsville Lions Club, of which he is charter member and past president, on Monday evening, when he was presented a plaque in recognition for his outstanding services since the organization of the Reedsville Club 14 years ago.

At a session of the board of directors, these donations were voted: $10 to the local Girl Scouts; $25 additional to the Boy Scouts; $5 to the Federal Association for Epilepsy. The club will meet again on Thursday, November 6, at 7 p.m., when the program will be in charge of the constitution and by-laws committee, composed of Ralph L. Staley, Lawrence H. Haines and Bernard M. Selby.

FRAUD TRIAL IS RECESSED

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A trial of three men charged with conspiring to cheat the government has been recessed for the weekend after testimony from Col. Ralph O. Brownfield, one of the defendants.

Brownfield, of Winfield, Kan., testified in U. S. District Court Friday that he purchased a Mink cape for his wife with his own money. He denied that he purchased the $1,550 cape with money given him by the president of an Ohio firm doing business with the Air Force at the Olmsted (Pa.) Air Force Base.

The prosecution charges Brownfield and Col. Charles F. Burley, Dayton, Ohio, conspired with Robert F. McNett, owner of the Royal Electric Co., Dayton, to cheat the U. S. government.

Brownfield said he had two bank accounts at the time he purchased the fur cape for his wife on her birthday three years ago. He also said he had another $10,000 in negotiable government bonds at the time.

The prosecution contends the fur cape was given by McNett in exchange for contract manipulations between the Royal company and the two men stationed at Olmsted. Brownfield also testified that he contemplated retiring from the service long before he had met McNett.

Pilot Is Killed In Airplane Crash

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A light plane crashed in a farming area near Hantersville, 8 miles northeast of here Friday night, killing the pilot, George Heinecke, 42, of Lancaster.

Civil Aeronautics Administration inspectors said Heinecke had been in radio contact with Locomotive County Airport here shortly before the crash and was cleared for a landing.

He was flying alone in the plane, which was owned by Morris Taylor of Williamsport.

Officials said wreckage of the plane was spread over a wide area and that there were indications that the craft had disintegrated in flight.

Parts of the plane were found on the farms of Sam Reeder and Morton Lauchie, both of Montoursville R. 1.

County Agent Urges Fruit Growers To Display Apples At Farm Show Next January

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Last year five counties, Adams, Erie, Franklin, Lancaster, and Lehigh, had county association displays of apples and other fruit at the State Farm Products Show in Harrisburg.

All fruitgrowers of Adams County are urged to enter some of their best fruit at the next show in Harrisburg, January 1959. The prize money is attractive, but the opportunity for advertising is unsurpassed.

The bountiful crop of apples in the county this year should be enough to assure a splendid exhibit of this popular fruit at the State Farm Products Show next January. Plans are underway for a beautiful display from all parts of the state.

Expect Many Displays
In past years not only fruit growers but apple consumers — and that means or should mean everybody — have seen the apple displays. This year the generous premium list is expected to bring out this beautiful fruit in profusion.

For the person who has never seen an apple show it is quite a revelation to stand at the head of the stairs and look down the long table covered with the most perfect and beautiful apples the state of Pennsylvania can produce while the racks covered with trays and boxes of different colored apples give a suggestion of plenty and add to the colorfulness of the room.

In addition to the attractive ness of the exhibit there is an educational value not to be despised. The fruit grower who views the exhibit sees what can be done in the production of perfect fruit. The exhibitor in selecting his exhibit and in comparing it with the exhibit of his neighbor learns why it is that one man can get several dollars a bushel for apples when his neighbor cannot sell his at a dollar. For the consumer there is the opportunity of learning the difference between varieties so that the huckster can no longer sell Ben Davis apples and call them Delicious.

Mulch Protects Beds
Killing frosts, which already have occurred in the county, should serve as a warning to growers to prepare for putting their strawberry patch to bed for the winter. Although plantings need not be mulched until the temperature drops to 20 degrees, normally in late November, it is well to make preparations early.

Be sure there is enough good mulching material on hand to do the job. Seed free wheat straw is the ideal mulching material, but other straws, early-cut hay, chopped cornstalks, leaves, and pine needles are often used. Any of these materials will do if they are free from seeds, and not too heavy, or too light. Have enough mulch to cover the plants to a depth of 4 or 5 inches when first applied, or about 2 inches when packed down. This requires about 3 to 4 tons of wheat per acre, or 16 pounds per 100 square feet.

Frequent warm periods melt the snow and thaw the top 3 or 4 inches of the soil several times during the winter months in most of Pennsylvania. This means that strawberry plants not only are partially heaved from the soil, but also have no protection in many cases when temperatures are below 15 degrees — the critical temperature for injury to the tissues of the crown of the plant. That makes mulching even more essential in the state than farther north, where the snow stays on all winter, or farther south, where temperatures do not drop so low.

Value Of Using Manure
What fields should be topdressed with manure this fall and winter? This is one of the questions very often asked. Where supplies are limited, it is important that manure be applied where it will do the most good. Give next year's corn fields top priority. The poorer the soil being plowed under for corn the more important it is to topdress them with manure. To produce top yields of corn large amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium are needed. A 10-ton application per acre of manure is equivalent to about 50 lbs. of 10-10-10 per acre.

The Weeders Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — The season for fresh-pulled corn has long gone, and the green tomatoes, each wrapped in its package of torn newspapers, are ripening slowly in the cool cellar for eating next month or, with luck, even the one after that. The narcissus are in the ground, the peonies and iris stalks have been cut and burned, not composted, the perennial garden has been dug over and fed.

There are still some shrubs to plant, a couple of oak saplings to move from a nursery bed out to the border, the tulips to set in and — for perhaps another couple of weeks, the hedge to clip, the grass to mow (no lower than two inches this late) and the fallen leaves to sweep.

It is, except for maintenance chores, the end of the season, and a curious season it has been. For once, in our locale at any rate, we never lacked for rain — all the watering I did all season long was from the watering can and only when setting in and establishing transplants. For the first time within my memory, the lawn grasses never had a mid-season dormant period, the deciduous trees never once looked dry and tired.

For some seasons I've fretted about a big elm which towers over the garage. Usually it started to turn yellow early, and each year — like all elm owners — I've worried about its health. But this year, with all the rain and the coolness, I know that at the moment at least, the elm so far has escaped the fatal beetle-spread blight. A neighbor of mine, also an elm-worrier, has had the same experience. She, however, was so convinced that the elm was fighting a losing battle that she had a fast-growing sapling planted beside the old tree so that there would be something to take its place.

The rain and the coolness was fine for grasses, trees and shrubs but it certainly slowed up the flowers and vegetables. Our tomatoes were smaller than usual and about three weeks behind their usual schedule. The dahlias were late in blooming and so were the asters and chrysanthemums, but never have I seen such a fine display of fall roses than my hybrid teas put forth.

Better Spraying
Maybe it was better spraying, but maybe also it was the weather, but although the aphids were present on their favorite plants (roses, lupine and nasturtium) there seemed less than usual. It was a light year for Japanese beetle and I didn't find a single red spider all season, even on the golden glow. But mildew turned up on the phlox, the lilacs and

Other places to use manure to good advantage are winter wheat fields that will be overseeded next spring to legumes. However, use only light applications (6 to 8 tons per acre) of a well-shredded straw manure. Apply this in the winter after the ground has been frozen.

Pastures Will Benefit
Permanent pastures which are predominately grass will also benefit from manure application this fall and winter. The best rate of application is 10-12 tons per acre.

In general, good legume stands should not be topdressed with manure. The nitrogen in the manure is not needed and can do some harm by stimulating grasses which will then push out the legumes. If the field is to be plowed next year this is not a problem.

In all cases, reinforcing manure with superphosphate at the rate of 2 lbs. per cow per day or 50 lbs. per ton of manure is recommended.

even touched the butterfly bush if you skipped on scheduled dusting. And, of course, the slugs — those slimy garden snails — had a wonderful summer and have a head-start on next season's garden unless they can be tempted this fall with fresh poison bait.

Mulching Attachments

Mulching attachments on rotary lawn mowers can be handy at this time. They can chew up leaves so that, left to break down into rich mold, the process takes much less time than if they were merely heaped in a shady spot to let nature take its course. Best, however, not to use anything but oak leaves or evergreen needles for garden mulching, for leaves of elm, maple, and such are likely to become heavy, smothering blankets. Incidentally, save the leaves, peatmoss, straw or what don't apply the winter blanket on the garden until the ground has become deeply and thoroughly frozen.

Keep Frost In Ground

Then use it to keep the frost in the ground; to prevent the destructive heaving which winter kills so many otherwise hardy plants by exposing their root systems. If cold weather threatens and you still have your tulip bulbs to plant, a good plan is to cover the empty bulb beds with a thick coating of leaves which will prevent the ground beneath from freezing and thus make the work possible, even if not very pleasant. Tulips of course can be planted well into winter weather — almost anytime up to Christmas if the soil is workable.

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — I have a little fall problem I can never solve. It is called "Autumn Leaves," which is nice for a song title, but something less than charming if one has a large lawn area which includes a large assortment of trees, mostly deciduous.

Everyone who has picked up a hand cultivator known that one of Nature's most precious materials is leaves. You can compost them into rich, nutritious leafmold. You can save them as a blanket for your borders. You must never, never burn them because it's like burning money. But, on the other hand, you must not let the leaf fall get ahead of you because if you must let them stay where they fall, they will smother the grass.

This is my dilemma. I've got a lot of trees and they all drop their leaves except for a few yews, hemlocks and jackpines. We'd be waist-deep in leaves if I didn't have my lawnmower out almost daily in leaf-dropping season. I can save some of them, but I sure can't keep all of them. What do you do with the left-over? I don't know anybody you can give leaves to — all my neighbors complain the way I do. Even the garbage man rejects them. There's nothing left to do except burn them — and then the neighbors and the fire department get nervous.

I wouldn't even mind their nerves, either, if I didn't feel ashamed of myself for destroying all that good potential leaf-mold and mulch. However, I just don't see any other thing to do. And one more thing before I move on to something else: everybody

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP) — Buying a house is a headache that begins when you first decide to buy, hurts most at buying time and lasts a lifetime if you've bought unwisely.

It pays to be cautious both in your selection of a realty agent and in the house.

Your world of dreams shatters easily with a poor location, poor financing and poor construction. What you need most is advice, not money.

That is the reason William Alter, president of a Chicago realty firm, made a survey of 1,000 home buyers. He wanted to know how they went about finding the house of their dreams and if later they figured they made a good purchase.

"Better Deal"
He found that 37 per cent felt they could have made a better deal.

knows that you should collect the oak leaves separately and save them for such purposes as making an acid mulch over the roots of the broadleaved evergreens and to form a non-smothering blanket over the flower borders. Well, I have tried, but it simply can't be done successfully on my place. The maple, the hickories, the tulip tree and all the rest drop their leaves, too, and a wind comes along and mixes them all up. I can save a few oak leaves, but not all of them unless I organize a series of oak leaf-picking bees, which I don't think would be popular.

This, by the way, is a good time to save money if there are any major garden purchases necessary for next year's work. New models of mowers will be coming out soon, and it is often possible to organize good buys for reel or rotary types because dealers want to get rid of their left-over stocks. Before deeply cold weather comes, incidentally, it is a good idea to check over the garden medicine chest, if it is in an unheated location, and remove to a good safe indoor spot — far out of reach of children or pets and carefully labeled — those which suffer from freezing.

Alter says the important factor in house buying is look before you leap.

When you get tired of the looking, bargaining and deciding, you are apt to rush in where apartment dwellers fear to tread. "Too many buyers made the major decision at a time when they were simply too tired to look any further," Alter said.

Tired feet and over-loaded minds don't lend themselves to securing the future most couples expect to find in their dream homes.

"Sleep On It"
So Alter advises:

"Do your shopping and then go home and sleep on it before deciding which house you'll buy." Buying a house is work combined with frustration.

An indication of how deeply frustration possesses a home hunter is seen in the fact that the average couple traveled 237 miles by car in looking for a new home.

They walked an average of 32 miles — around excavations, over through model homes.

They made, in most cases, three "serious" house-hunting excursions, spending the better part of a day on each.

Did Much Studying
They read an average of 60 pages of newspaper advertising of homes, studied at least six magazine articles.

In addition, home buyers peered down innumerable disposal units, tested a variety of refrigerator doors and investigated storage space as well as crawl spaces they knew little about. Then the average couple probably made the most important purchase of a lifetime on the basis of one or two conversations as to site, price and financing. "It appears," says Alter, "that these first buyers of new homes could have done better had they not been literally worn out by their house-hunting efforts and ready to take whatever was at hand."

So the best cure for the home-buying headache seems to be: Wait until weariness wears off before signing on any dotted line.

It covers more acres per day, does a better job

It's a forage chopper and vine beater, too!

You go faster in the field 'cause Speedy's easier to pull. Pointed cutting hammers overlap, each takes only a small bite, each has less work to do so there's less drag on the tractor. You can use your smaller tractor — Speedy takes 1/2 less power.

Speedy does a better job 'cause there're two sets of hammers slashing through the row. Hammers are adjustable for row width and furrow depth.

Maintenance costs less. Only the bottom half of Speedy's double-jointed hammers will ever have to be replaced.

Dulles Seeks Understanding With Generalissimo Chiang

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles intends to seek a clear understanding with President Chiang Kai-shek next week on major policies in countering Red China's political offensive against Formosa.

High officials predicted the result of the meeting at Taipei would be to strengthen relations between the Nationalist government and Washington. They also expected the talks to reduce the chance that the Chinese Communists will be successful in driving a wedge between the two allies.

Echoing the line taken by Dulles at a news conference Tuesday, these officials said the Communist purpose in maintaining a cease-fire around Quemoy is unquestionably to break up the Nationalist-U. S. alliance. By this means the Reds might hope to isolate Formosa and undermine Chiang's government.

Dulles does not regard the threat as immediately critical. His mission thus is not designed to deal with an emergency, his associates said.

He is concerned about misunderstandings between Taipei and Washington arising out of the Quemoy crisis. Therefore, he felt it important to accept an invitation received from Chiang several days ago and to go to Formosa as soon as he winds up his present mission to Rome.

Leaves For Rome

Dulles left Friday night to represent the United States at rites for the late Pope Pius XII. He is due in Taipei by midweek, with a possible stopoff en route for brief talks with allied leaders in Europe.

Officials speculated privately that Dulles would try to persuade Chiang to cut down the size of Nationalist forces on the coastal islands of Quemoy and Matsu. These now total more than 100,000 men.

President Eisenhower and Dulles both have said they think Chiang's present troop deployment is wrong.

Dear Sir:

This should clarify the conversation I had in your office yesterday pertaining to the origin of the Public Law we discussed, relating to, Unemployment benefits for Armed Services personnel.

On February 13, 1957, five local boys of the Cashtown-Orrtanna area came to me with a complaint, that they had been refused their privilege to obtain unemployment compensation, earned by them while employed at the Knouse Foods Coop., Orrtanna, Pa., prior to their entering the Armed Service early in February, 1955.

I obtained power of attorney in the interest of these boys and immediately requested the Gettysburg office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service, to abide by the laws governing that office, the right of application and appeal by the discharged service personnel. This request was granted and appeals were instituted on behalf of Lee B. Hartman, Terry A. Cup of Cashtown and Jay P. McDannell of Orrtanna. In due course, the Culp and Hartman claims were used to set a precedent, all evidence was transcribed under oath before James O. Dugan, Referee for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on March 27, 1957, at 9:30 a.m., E.S.T., at Local Employment Office, 39 West St. Gettysburg, Penna. Your press was contacted at this time and informed of this action with a request that you set in on the referee hearing. The transcribed resulting denial of this appeal was forwarded by me to Douglas H. Elliott, Pennsylvania State Senator, for an opinion of the Commonwealth Attorney General's Office. Senator Elliott informed me that nothing further could be done without legislation in this direction.

I then took documentary evidence of this badly needed legislation to the Pennsylvania Headquarters of the Republican Party, which was recorded by photostatic copy, and I was given sympathetic encouragement toward the enactment of this legislation. Some hundreds of contacts were made immediately, as to the results of this Gettysburg hearing, by mail and otherwise, to legislators, heads of veterans national organizations, draft boards, U. S. Employment offices, judges, labor unions and leading citizens, act, not regarding any political affiliation. Thusly setting in to motion a chain reaction whereby we moved Congressman Scott in position for the enactment of the public law granting unemployment rights to discharged service personnel.

Trusting that this will further enlighten you on the news subject we discussed in your office.

Sincerely,

IRA M. BOLLMAN

Relieves Deadlock "Senator Gore of Oklahoma, relieved the deadlock. He asked the Senate to recall from the House the bill which it passed several weeks ago providing for the Lincoln Way and making Lincoln's birthday a national holiday. This was done, as the Senators recognized that unless they surrendered the Lincoln Way project the national holiday could not be created. With the Senate bill out of the way the senators consented to accept the House bill and it was passed."

The Lincoln Memorial Boulevard proposition was again brought up in the first term of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. A federal commission was appointed but again Marylanders killed the measure when a dozen or more cities and smaller communities wanted the road to pass through their areas. Several proposals were offered, including one a ridiculous that the boulevard idea died a laughing death. It was proposed that the boulevard extend from the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, wind through about 100 miles of Maryland countryside, extend to Hagerstown and thence to the Gettysburg Battlefield.

Arrest Youths For "Hat Snatching" LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The wave of hat snatching among the Amish has ended. Police rounded up six teen-agers who were accused of sneaking up behind Amishmen driving horse-drawn buggies and grabbing their broad-brimmed hats. The boys were turned over to their parents. The boys said they wanted the hats for souvenirs. The Amishmen complained because some of the hats were worth as much as $18.

School Teacher Dies Suddenly POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — George W. Lindeman, superintendent of business education in Pottsville High School, is dead at 59. Lindeman, a native of Lancaster, collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack Friday while shopping. He had been in ill health for some time.

A graduate of Millersville State Teachers College, Lindeman held a degree in education from the University of Pittsburgh and a master's degree from New York University.

He came to Pottsville in 1929 as a teacher of business subjects after teaching at schools in Nazareth and Turtle Creek. He was treasurer of the Pottsville High School Athletic Assn.

NO EDITION OF BIBLE FREE OF PRINT ERRORS

By TOM HENSHAW AP Religion Writer

"Printers have persecuted me without a cause," lamented King David in I Samuel 19:16.

He was right. "Printers" really were persecuting him in this Bible printed in 1633. The word should have been "princes."

The so-called Printers Bible was neither the first nor last edition of the Scriptures to be plagued by that curse of the print shops—the typographical error.

Errors Crept Through Probably no edition of the Bible has been published without a misprint. Yet the Bible is one of the most carefully proofread of books.

"The last time I was involved in publishing a Bible," says Miss Margaret Hills, librarian of the American Bible Society, "at least four people read it all the way through. And one of them read it three or four times."

"Still it came out with errors. Oh, we spelled names like Nebuchadnezzar right every time. But there were such things as 'now' for 'not' and so forth."

Most Biblical misprints are of no textual importance. Some, however, have brought about complete reversals of scriptural meaning.

Quite A Change Picture the conservation in 17th century London when it was discovered that the latest version of the Seventh Commandment instructed: "Thou shalt commit adultery."

The printers of the edition, men named Barker and Lucas, are said to have been fined 300 pounds for the typographical misstep and that particular Bible has been dubbed the "Wicked" or "Adulterous" Bible.

Only a few years later, another London printer, one J. Field, flubbed St. Paul's message to the Corinthians. Asked the saint in Fields' version:

Wives For Wives "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall inherit the kingdom of God?" (I Corinthians 6:9)

About the same time—the 17th was a bad century for Bible printers—Barker was blamed for slipping on another typographical banana peel.

This time the edition had the Lord directing Moses to "Vex the Midianites, and smite them: For they vex you with their wives." (Numbers 25:18). It should have been "wiles."

This time the edition had the Lord directing Moses to "Vex the Midianites, and smite them: For they vex you with their wives." (Numbers 25:18). It should have been "wiles."

But the road proposal also brought with it a calamity that passed every community within miles of Washington and Gettysburg. Southern congressmen shouted that if Lincoln was to get a highway, similar highways should go to southern battlefields.

The result was reported in the Gettysburg papers in February 1909.
